

MEDI7151 Year 1 Observership

ROCKHAMPTON

Join us at UQRCS Rockhampton for your Y1 Observership. Our program has been tailored to provide students the opportunity to experience the many advantages that rural practice and engagement with a regional community has to offer.

Students who successfully place to the program will need to demonstrate their interest in rural and regional medicine. A competitive selection process will be undertaken.

In 2017, we are offering ten places over the period 20 November to 15 December.

Features of our Program

- 4 weeks commencing Monday 20 November
- Based at the UQRC precinct on the Rockhampton Hospital campus
- Structured program overseen by experienced medical educators
- Comprehensive orientation/induction program
- Simulation-based skill training sessions
- Placements in a range of clinical settings
- Complimentary on site accommodation

Only 10 places available

APPLY NOW

This initiative is supported under the RHMT Program. Priority will be afforded to CSP (Commonwealth Supported Place) students with a rural background and /or an interest in rural health